

FOUR AND TWENTY

CONTENTS

AUTHOR BIOS FOLLOW AFTER POEM 24.

1. Wise

Nina E. Larsen

2. Mathematically from Seattle to Houston

Christie Isler

3. *

Dallas Jones

4. Silverfishes

Bonnie Quan Symons

5. *

David Rosenthal

6. Educational Gaps

Nancy Scott

7. I'm an All-Star

Sharayah Hooper

8. Pier

Mary Jane Nordgren

9. Stargazing in the Country

Herb Shallcross

10. Extraction: Mogadishu

Gabriel Gadfly

11. drought days

Author

12. *

Carrie Vestal Gilman

13. *

John McKernan

14. The Color Blue

Lake Boggan

15. Backpack's Front Pocket

Jaime Lee Kirtz

16. Rainmaker

Christie Isler

17. *

Justin Antonio Martinez

18. The Stage

Damian Balassone

19. Closure is a Neologism

Darren Crawford

20. Arabica Coffee Spill

Rachel Adams

21. *

John McKernan

22. A New Jedi's Quote

Henry Arroyo

23. torn grin

Janlori Goldman

24. Roofs

Kushal Poddar

We sit in the middle of small elephants drinking tea, reading the newspaper.
The secret, I know that they know.

NINA E. LARSEN

MATHEMATICALLY FROM SEATTLE TO HOUSTON

Riverbeds spread like Mandelbrot sets, inscribing Texas-ironed suede with vast math of waters past.

CHRISTIE ISLER

I found your scent in my fabrics,
Then stitched them together
And became among the things
Tangled in the loom.

DALLAS JONES

SILVERFISHES

Silverfishes wiggle over the range,
kitchen counter;
one dropped from the kitchen light onto my arm, as I sliced bread.

BONNIE QUAN SYMONS

hold still, dragonfly—
I promise not to zoom in much closer than this

DAVID ROSENTHAL

EDUCATIONAL GAPS

She knows all about Plath, Tolstoy and the Fall of Rome.
She's never tasted an artichoke.

NANCY SCOTT

I'M AN ALL-STAR

So much depends upon a pair of shoes
patched and re-patched sagging by the door.

SHARAYAH HOOPER

intersecting stubborn life and loss of tidal flux
jutting into infinity
'tween furrowed earth and fluid perpetuity

MARY JANE NORDGREN

STARGAZING IN THE COUNTRY

The path through the woods in this blackness is conjecture but the stars have established their certainty.

HERB SHALLCROSS

EXTRACTION: MOGADISHU

After the Black Hawk falls out of the sky, Little Bird swoops down to pluck up the hawk's spilled chicks.

GABRIEL GADELY

DROUGHT DAYS

she scans the sky
one wisp of cloud
like a postcard
from some wetter place

His hands hold onto imaginary boxes —
shelving memories

CARRIE VESTAL GILMAN

This empty sheet of paper
With my longing for death
Was once a cotton seed
Bearing the sun's handwriting

JOHN MCKERNAN

THE COLOR BLUE

Robin's eggs clutched in her nest
Unbroken in rubble of the tornado
Robin is broken
Red breast is silent. Blue.

LAKE BOGGAN

BACKPACK'S FRONT POCKET

Favourite penny

Cornered by zippers in aged

Old bag next to crumbs

JAIME LEE KIRTZ

RAINMAKER

He runs. Makes no distance, but accumulated meetings, messages, mail melt in sloppy drops to water the infinite belt.

CHRISTIE ISLER

blueeyed mfa
sing us your blonde song of woe
in uncolored texts

JUSTIN ANTONIO MARTINEZ

THE STAGE

Every actor desires the role of Jesus;
if it's taken, they will set their sights on the role of Judas.

DAMIAN BALASSONE

CLOSURE IS A NEOLOGISM

Sometimes—
I'll find a strand of long black hair
Even though it's been
Two years.

DARREN CRAWFORD

ARABICA COFFEE SPILL

Soil piled in a corner:
an avant-garde art piece
into which visitors are invited to place their hands.

RACHEL ADAMS

When just three I created An image of God using
A bird nest which burned
When touched with a match

JOHN MCKERNAN

A NEW JEDI'S QUOTE

*A new life exits space.
An old one enters life.
Wars among stars are forged.
An eerie wind shakes bones.*

HENRY ARROYO

TORN GRIN

torn at the knee, jeans
frayed, skin peeks out at the bend, the exposed joint grins.

JANLORI GOLDMAN

ROOFS

between two edges for eleven minutes

then moon walks away

KUSHAL PODDAR

© All poems and artwork in this journal were published with permission. All rights belong to the authors and artists, who attest to the originality of their works. Please do not reproduce poems or artwork found in this journal without permission.

Associate Editors: Geoff Pope & Kay Tracy | Publisher & Designer: Vinnie Kinsella

This month's cover art is by Paulo Resende. Paulo is a photographer and illustrator from Portugal. | www.ilustracoes.net

Rachel Adams is a writer and editor living in Washington, DC. Her work has previously appeared in Blue Unicorn, Town Creek Poetry, Ophelia Street, Grasslimb, Arsenic Lobster, Barrier Islands Review, Blueline, and The Penwood Review.

Henry Arroyo of East Elmhurst, New York, is an upcoming writer/poet who creates films with still cameras and old equipment. | www.flickr.com/photos/henryarroyo

Damian Balassone is an Australian poet whose work has appeared in numerous publications, including Overland, Arena, Eureka Street, Green Left Weekly, and Lucid Rhythms. He is currently working on a second volume of poetry.

Lake Boggan is an Oregon writer whose poetry has been published in the collections Between the Leaves and The Spirit of Pregnancy, and in her chapbooks Passionate Fem and The Bone Pile.

Darren Crawford is a freelance writer and a full-time poet and student. His work has been featured in several editions of The Anthology, Winthrop University's literary magazine, and in the curriculum of his community college in South Carolina.

Gabriel Gadfly is the author of Bone Fragments, a collection of war poetry forthcoming from 1889 Labs in late July. Gabriel self-publishes most of his poetry on his website. | gabrielgadfly.com

Carrie Vestal Gilman resides in Yakima, Washington. She works as a mental health social worker for the Department of Veterans Affairs. This is her first online publication.

Janlori Goldman received an MFA from Sarah Lawrence College and teaches at Columbia University. Her poems have appeared in The Cortland Review, Calyx, Mudlark, The Sow's Ear, Connotation Press, The Mom Egg, and forthcoming in Contrary.

John Grey is an Australian-born poet, US resident since late seventies. He works as a financial systems analyst. He has been recently published in Xavier Review, White Wall Review, and Writer's Bloc with work upcoming in Poem, Prism International, and Cider Press Review.

Sharayah C. Hooper lives in Los Angeles, California, and has been published on the websites Collective Banter and With Painted Words. She enjoys reading and writing and hopes someday to write a novel.

Christie Isler writes poetry and fiction in the Pacific Northwest. She has work published online, including Identity Theory, Infinite Windows, Every Day Poets, and Poetry Quarterly. | thetriptakesyou.wordpress.com

Jaime Lee Kirtz is a poet with degrees in Literature and Physics. She has been published by Pandora's Collective and the Poetry Institute of Canada. Her work is forthcoming in the anthology Emerge.

Nina E. Larsen has published work in Norway and New York, won a poetry contest in a national newspaper in Norway, and holds an MA in French Literature from Sorbonne/Oslo University.

Justin Antonio Martinz is the co-author of Sighphen. Work from an upcoming Young Adult novel has appeared in The Danforth Quarterly. His album, Hipsters Dance, Soldiers Die, appears soon on Impossible! Records. He lives in Lawrence, Kansas.

John McKernan grew up in Nebraska and moved to West Virginia in 1967. He recently retired from herding commas. He edits for ABZ Press. His most recent book is Resurrection of the Dust.

Mary Jane Nordgren, D. O., retired from family practice to acreage overlooking Mt. Hood. A Kay Snow award winner for non-fiction, her poetry will appear in Avocet. She compiled Seeds of... for Writers-in-the-Grove. | TAWKPress.com

Dallas Jones is a graduate of Lewis & Clark College. His other works can be found in Pindelyboz and the Portland Art Museum's Art/Words. He is currently sloathing around Europe.

Kushal Poddar resides in the city of Kolkata, India. Apart from poetry, he has written fiction and scripts for television mini-series .

Bonnie Quan Symons has had two haikus published in the Vancouver Courier and a poem published in the March 2011 issue of Four and Twenty. She is an administrative assistant at British Columbia Teachers' Federation.

David Rosenthal, of Berkeley, California, is a public school teacher. He's had short poems in Modern Haiku, FrogPond, Lilliput Review, and others. He has been a Pushcart Prize nominee and a Nemerov Sonnet Award finalist. | users.lmi.net/rosen4

Nancy Scott, author of four books of poetry, has been published extensively in print and online journals. She is also the editor of U.S.1 Worksheets, the journal of the U.S.1 Poets' Cooperative in New Jersey.

Herb Shallcross lives in Queens with his wonderful wife. His poems have been anthologized in In the Garden of the Crow from Elektrik Milk Bath Press, and are forthcoming online at Apiary Magazine.