CONTENTS

1. September Morn
   Tracy Davidson

2. Apple Picking Jules Jacob

3. Overripe
   Wynne Huddleston

4. Birthstone
   Harmony Hodges

5. Moments of Inspiration
   Howie Good

6. Pacific Angels
   Lake Boggan

7. Camping on the Mississippi
   Scott F. Parker

8. That Rattling
   Raster Jones

9. On Buying a Wedding Dress: First Fragment
   Elizabeth Langemak

10. On Buying a Wedding Dress: Fourth Fragment
    Elizabeth Langemak

11. Rebel Kitchen
    John Odziemek

12. Mania
    Linda McDade

13. Arm Pit
    Harold Horton

14. Notecard Poem 36
    Raymond Gibson

15. Panhandle Song
    Jonathan Steinke

16. alms
    Morgan Shnier

17. waitress at the ramen house
    Scott Duke Kominers

18. Chef
    Alan James Blair

19. Chronicle
    Jean McLeod

20. the fissure
    Marzio Milanese

21. Hammering
    James Toupin

22. Indian Summer
    Joan Graves

23. *
    Alexander B. Joy

24. *
    Roger Jones

Asterisks indicate untitled poems. Underlined text indicates a hyperlink.

Author bios follow After poem 24.
early breeze
wafting in the scent of ashes-of-roses from the crematorium
She told the jury the Golden Delicious were perfect and the kids old blue car seats didn’t fit in the new pickup.
old maid nods off overripe apples fall to their fate sapphire sky, diamond sweat hay bales shaped like presents red balloon lines from twine my ring finger is bare Moments of Inspiration

arrive like boys of twelve racing on ten-speeds into the vast, monotonous sunlight bordered by green

Howie Good
Pacific Angels

Here surf boards like prayer rugs Angels of the water Kneeling on the hypnotic vastness Golden halos on converted heads Before tonight, fireflies were fables
From some far off era.
But here they all are—Stars to our campfire’s moon.
That rattling in the attic at the moment I proposed was on account of fussing angels: guardians, mine and yours.
How other brides looked when the second dress fit, fat clamps of fabric braced on their backs like stunned pigeons.
An entire wall of mirrors facing front and just a small one in my hand for looking behind.
Cheeky Monday morning:
Spoon found in fork slot,
Puffed Kamut leaps from my mouth, Coffee maker goes on holiday.
Intellect and Talent Abound
His hot brain burns
The sense out of him Arm pit farts for fragile philosophy majors.
wrinkles on a statue time’s fingerprints Across Nebraska fields at night, they lie in bed staring opposite directions. Frozen corn, freezer empty. Twins on the way.
two crushed beer cans left on my doorstep like when cats offer chewed sparrows to unskilled hunters at last, steaming udon arrived—her shirt in my hamper Kilimanjaro yellows above the pot. He sweats to make Tanzania come alive for tourists who never will.
Flashes of lightning: insight stitched to narrative with tongues’ tensile strength becomes fable, legend, history and, under time’s drift: Truth the fissure is our premise.
with diligence
thumbs drag the lip and articulate its margins.
Hammering

Woodpecker hammers wall, the house being eaten from within. No admitting desire — Thought of her would never leave me be.
Those same parched fields Seducing me with their colors Suggesting warmth Actually scratchy and dry broken headstone perhaps her life was harder leaves cartwheel across an empty parking lot “Everything Must Go!”
This month’s cover art, “Missing Pieces,” is by Elise Beattie. Elise’s unique style involves painting with water-media. Beattie is listed in Who’s Who in American Art. Her paintings are exhibited nationally and published in Best of America Watermedia Artists and Splash 13: Alternative Approaches.

Alan James Blair studies creative writing at Oklahoma State University, where he pursues his Ph.D. His recent three-day novel, The Mermaid’s Brother, received an honorable mention.

Lake Boggan is an Oregon writer whose poetry has been published in the collections Between the Leaves and The Spirit of Pregnancy, and in her many chapbooks, such as Passionate Fem and The Bone Pile.

Tracy Davidson lives in Warwickshire, England. Her poems have appeared in various publications including Three Line Poetry, Lyrical Passions, Ribbons, Moonbathing, and Modern Haiku.

Raymond Gibson is a graduate of the creative writing MFA at Florida Atlantic University. His poems have appeared in Oak Bend Review, Three Line Poetry, and THIS Literary Magazine. He lives in Hollywood, FL.
Howie Good, a journalism professor at SUNY New Paltz, is the author of the full-length poetry collections Lovesick (Press Americana, 2009), Heart With a Dirty Windshield (BeWrite Books, 2010), and Everything Reminds Me of Me (Desperanto, 2011), as well as numerous print and digital poetry chapbooks.

Joan Graves resides in Hillsboro, Oregon. She has been published previously in Four and Twenty and at Tawkpress.com. She can be reached at foracanthus@gmail.com.

Harmony Hodges is an artist living in Portland, Oregon. She also writes poetry and fiction. Her work has been published online at With Painted Words.

Harold Horton lives in Seattle. However, he does not throw fish.

Wynne Huddleston is a member of the Mississippi Writers Guild and the Mississippi Poetry Society. Her poetry has appeared in numerous publications, including Birmingham Review, Orange Room Review, and Danse Macabre. | wynnehuddleston.wordpress.com

Julie “Jules” Jacob is a child advocate living in the Mark Twain National Forest. Her work has appeared in numerous publications, including Huffpost Women, The Binnacle, Frogpond, and Grey Sparrow Journal. | www.redroom.com/member/julesjacob

Raster Jones lives in South Carolina. His work has recently appeared in storySouth and Town Creek Poetry.
Roger Jones teaches in the Texas State University MFA Poetry Program. He is the poetry editor of Texas Review. His haiku, tanka, and haibun have appeared in Modern Haiku, Eucalypt, Haibun Today, and other journals.

Alexander B. Joy is a Ph.D. candidate in Comparative Literature at the University of Massachusetts. His haiku have appeared in journals across four continents.

Scott Duke Kominers is an economist by moonlight. He’s a repeat offender at Four and Twenty, and his work has also appeared in Frogpond, Modern Haiku, and tinywords.

Linda Marable McDade lives in Pensacola Beach, Florida. Her poem “Naughty” was published in The Emerald Coast Review (Volume 3), and she is an award-winning speaker in Toastmasters in Pensacola.

Jean McLeod, a retired social worker and professional clown, lives at the beach. Her work has been published in approximately thirty-five literary journals. The title of her book is Tiny Poems for Women Who Think They Hate Poetry.

Marzio Milanese is a retired musician from Chicago, now splitting his time between poetry and architecture.

John Odziemek is a designer and writer who lives in Washington State with his lovely wife, Alison, and dog, Brinkley. Mr. Odziemek authored Oscar the Elephant and Catching Wayward Sheep. | www.johnodz.com Scott F. Parker is co-editor of Coffee: Grounds for Debate and author of the forthcoming memoir Running After Prefontaine.

Morgan Shnier is an English and Poetry major at the University of Arizona. His work has been in Ink Sweat & Tears, and is set to appear in Milk Sugar and Heavy Hands Ink.

Jonathan Steinke lives with his wife in Mesa, Arizona. This is his first publication of poetry in an ongoing literary journal, online or otherwise.

James Toupin, a retired government lawyer, has been publishing poems since 2008. They have appeared in numerous journals, most recently including Turtle Quarterly, Raven Chronicles, Halfway Down the Stairs, Verse Wisconsin, and Umbrella.